

TRAINING SESSION

Representative Democracy in America

Representative Democracy in America: Voices of the People is a national project designed to reinvigorate and educate Americans on the critical relationship between government and the people. The project introduces citizens, particularly young people, to the representatives, institutions, and processes that realize the goal of a government of, by, and for the people. This program is aligned to National Standards and the We the People curriculum.

During this session, participants will...

- Learn interactive methods designed to teach students what Representative Democracy is, the history of our government and the role of a citizen in their government.
- Engage students in learning about their local government leaders
- Explore interactive websites to use in the classroom
