

2/18/10 For immediate release
contact: Alison Porter 602.882.1848

Parenting High Ability Children Conference to be held 3/27/2010

Arizona Association for Gifted and Talented is hosting its 3rd annual Parent Institute: Parenting High Ability Children on Saturday, March 27th at the ASU College of Law in Tempe. This day long conference features speakers on social and emotional development, balancing family life, creativity, is my child gifted, the gifted brain, advocating for your child, gifted with learning challenges, educational alternatives, town hall sessions with AZ's state gifted director, parenting tips, and age specific info - preschool / elementary / MS / HS. Attendees can browse vendors of books and games, pick up literature on summer camps and other programs, and network with other parents, grandparents, and educators during the box lunch walkabout. Open to all Arizonans who parent or teach high ability children. Optional programs for children and preteens are offered simultaneously. For more information and to register online for just $25 a person, go to www.aagtparentday.com. Call the AAGT office at 602.882.1848 with questions.

AAGT Parent Institute: Parenting High Ability Children

Saturday, March 27, 2009
9:00 AM - 4:00 PM
ASU College of Law, Tempe
Pre-registration $25 per person (includes lunch)
Pre-Register at www.aagtparentday.com